LBC WITH IAN PAYNE EXPERIENCE

Behind the Scenes at LBC radio and a day in the Life of a Radio Presenter

Kindly Donated by Ian Payne.

Ian is a London-based news and sports correspondent at ITV News and a presenter at LBC radio. I am also starting up a business: “newsandsportUK” providing news and sports reports and analysis to radio and TV stations around the world.

I have worked in British Broadcasting for over 25 years Payne began his career on the BBC’s journalistic training programme in 1986 with BBC Radio Lancashire, and was once named as Northwest Young Journalist of the Year. He then became a producer with Radio 2 and latterly on other programmes including Radio 4’s Today and then Payne then joined BBC Radio 5 Live, covering a wide variety of sports, as well as presenting Sport on 5. In 2000 he became the presenter of the weekday afternoon show.[2] Payne twice won a Sony Radio Award and worked for Sky Sports as Anchorman of Goals on Sunday. This is a one off opportunity and ideal role for any Budding Reporter.
